Christian, Saidy

Andrew: Thank you for having me! We created this club to give people a chance to work on their public speaking skills. We saw a need for a business related club on campus, we feel as if we can do something about that. Those who want to join the club need people who have a business like minded mindset. We also created this club to help people find their true passion, people who still dont know what they want to do with their life yet. We are looking for entrepreneurs, people who can share their business experience, effectively to target our audience. We are connecting with several businesses, reaching out to anyone regardless if they dont want to be entrepreneurs.
